

ST. AUGUSTINE IS SWEEP BY FLAME

Thousand Tourists in Peril as Five Hotels Burn in Historic Town.

PRICELESS RELICS
LOST IN MUSEUM

Two Hurt Jumping Out Windows,
One May Die—Courthouse and Theatre Destroyed.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.]
St. Augustine, Fla., April 2.—Five hotels, housing more than 1,000 tourists; the courthouse, a theatre and several homes were destroyed early today in a fire which devastated a quarter of a square mile from the heart of this ancient city to Matanzas Bay—the show place of St. Augustine. The property loss is estimated at from $500,000 to $750,000. None was killed.

The fire started in the Florida House. The fact that all escaped before the entire building was in flames is remarkable. Miss Alice M. Smith, of Amberst, N. S., a winter visitor, is the only person reported in a critical condition. She was seriously injured by jumping to the street from a fourth floor.

The Central House, Lynn apartments, Monson House and Atlantic House were the other hotels burned.

Rescuers Display Courage.
Harry Hindley and H. L. Willoughby, Jr., of Philadelphia; Oscar Ivanowsky, James Wilson, Augustus Craig, and Pomeroy Creighton Bennett of St. Augustine, and some of the local police and firemen were among those who displayed unusual courage. Hindley, Ivanowsky, Wilson and Creighton saved the Magnolia Hotel guests.

There is little suffering, owing to the fact that the fire was confined to the business and residential district. Relief stations have been established. The destitute have been housed and supplied with clothes.

The Genovar Opera House, the Power Boat Club house, nine residences and several cottages were burned. The Veder Museum, one of the oldest buildings on the continent, containing priceless relics of the Spanish period, was destroyed.

A detachment of firemen was sent from Jacksonville, and with its help several buildings were saved from destruction. Among them was the Magnolia Hotel and the new fraternal building.

Soon after owners of homes in the path of the fire began moving their household goods to the street a company of state militia was detailed to aid the police, and an information bureau was established to reunite families which became scattered in fleeing from the flames.

Some Carried Down Ladders.
Firemen first turned their attention to rescuing guests at the Florida, many of whom were carried down ladders. Occupants of the other hotels were warned, and many fled into the streets without any attempt to save their personal belongings.

The ballots in yesterday's good roads bond election were in an open hall of the courthouse, and but for the efforts of County Commissioner Townsend would have been destroyed. It is not believed that records in the fireproof vaults of the County Clerk's office will be damaged.

When the fire attacked the Power Boat Club building, on the bay front, it was the presence of mind of Charles Hopkins, the manager, that saved $50,000 worth of speed craft. He cut the moorings of the valuable boats, and they sailed unharmed to a safe harbor in the bay.

The list of homes and other buildings destroyed includes Clarence Rogers' residence, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith's residence, Nook cottage, J. D. Puller's residence, Monson cottage, Gould T. Butler's residence and cottage, the homes of George W. Corbett and Dr. G. W. Potter, the Joseph flat building and the Sallas and Sanchez buildings.

The origin of the fire has not been explained.

MEN OF LETTERS HOME

2,000 Greek Warriors Return from Fighting Turks.

After the Cunarder Laconia came in yesterday from the Mediterranean this country was richer by some two thousand and several hundred men, many of whom were picked up at the Piræus soon after the vessel left the Adriatic.

The homecomers were nearly all Greek warriors who had accumulated scars in the recent war against the Turk.

Pantoleon Nicolaopoulos and Charalabos Stathis came over in the cabin. Prominent among those in the steerage were Captain Solopoulas, Panagiotis Papadimitriopoulos, Lieutenant Papadimitriopoulos, Corporal Papanastasiou and Sergeant Constantakopoulos. Some of the others had a few less letters in their names.

Intersettlement Track Games.

The Intersettlement Athletic Association will hold a set of games at the 71st Regiment armory to-morrow evening, consisting of eight junior and ten senior events, over four hundred entries have been received and eleven associations will be represented at the meet.

LAWYERS CLASH AT TRIAL

Prosecutor Accused of Coaching Bankruptcy Case Witness.

Frank Moss, former Assistant District Attorney of New York County, who, with Abel I. Smith, former Assistant United States District Attorney, represented defendants in a criminal action before Judge Hand and a jury in the federal District Court yesterday, accused Roger A. Wood, Assistant United States District Attorney, of coaching one of the government's witnesses.

Mr. Moss's client was Simon H. Kugel, a lawyer, of No. 175 Broadway, who, with his brother-in-law, Aaron Feldman, a clerk in a New Haven, Conn., furniture store, is on trial charged with conspiracy to conceal the assets of Harry L. Rogal and David Brass, bankrupt dealers, of No. 91 Mercer street.

Rogal testified that under Kugel's direction he tampered with the firm's bank books and swore falsely at the bankruptcy proceedings. In corroboration the government had subpoenaed many warehouse witnesses and telephone girls.

The trial will last several days.

MAYOR SORRY WALSH QUITS

To Name Successor Soon—
Brooks and Gavan Suggested.

Announcing the acceptance of the resignation of John L. Walsh as Commissioner of Weights and Measures, Mayor Mitchell said yesterday:

"I regret he is leaving the city service, as I believe his administration has been exceptionally good. He has built the department up to an efficient and business-like basis. He knew it was my wish that he remain in the city service, but he decided that his family obligations required his acceptance of the broader opportunity offered in private business."

The Mayor said he had no one in mind, but would make an appointment before May 1. Among those suggested for the place are Franklin Brooks and Joseph W. Gavan, editor of "The Fruit Trade Journal and Produce Record."

EXCHANGE FIRMS TO QUIT

Two of the Oldest Houses in Wall Street Will Dissolve.

Two of the oldest and most important firms on the New York Stock Exchange have determined to dissolve on or before May 1, it was learned yesterday. They are Thomas Denny & Co., established in 1849, and Pomroy Brothers, established in 1878. Taylor, Auchincloss & Joest, established in 1912, have also decided to quit because of poor business.

Charles M. Newcombe, of Thomas Denny & Co., is a governor and vice-president of the exchange, and Henry K. Pomroy, of Pomroy Brothers, is a governor and chairman of the Committee on Admissions. The junior partners of the two firms will form a new firm under the name of Denny, Pomroy & Co.

The Long Beach Railway accident as a result of which S. Osgood Pell and William Laimbeer lost their lives was recalled by the announcement yesterday that the latter's seat on the exchange had been posted for transfer to Robert S. Crocker. The consideration was $50,000, unchanged from the last previous sale. Charles Morgan and George A. Nelson have been elected members of the exchange.

U. S. EXPRESS DISSOLUTION

Company Plans to Cease Operations
by June 30.

D. I. Roberts, president of the United States Express Company, announced yesterday that notice of abrogation of contract had been sent to virtually all the railroads over whose lines the company's service is operated, the one important exception being the Reading. The stipulated dates of abrogation are April 30, May 31 and June 30, according to the contracts. Unless looked for litigation arises out of their nullification the company will cease operations on June 30, the termination of the fiscal year.

It was learned yesterday for the first time that the United States Express Company decided to discontinue its foreign business six months ago. J. H. Bieger, superintendent of the foreign department, is now abroad, supervising the necessary details involved in carrying out the decision.

SCHULZ BALKS AT GLYNN GIVEN JOB

Bronx Surrogate May Decline
Coveted Public Service Place.

Explanation of the failure of G. M. S. Schulz to be sworn in as member of the Public Service Commission in this district to succeed John E. Eustis was found yesterday in the statement that he was seriously debating in his mind whether he could accept the place. His appointment was made at 1:30 o'clock on Saturday morning after a long wrangle in the executive chamber in Albany. He was a compromise choice.

All this week Chairman McCall and other members of the commission have been looking for Mr. Schulz to take office. There are many things tied up in the commission because of the law of a fifth member.

Friends of Mr. Schulz, however, have urged him not to take the place. He was elected as the first Surrogate of The Bronx last fall. The term is six years and the salary is $10,000 a year. The salary of a Public Service Commissioner is $15,000 and the term is five years.

However, Surrogate Schulz has ambitions along judicial lines. He is hoping, it is said, to sit on the Supreme Court bench some day. It has been pointed out to him that as Public Service Commissioner he would be constantly under fire, whereas his work as Surrogate would be pleasant and free from criticism.

Surrogate Schulz said last night he would rather not discuss the question as to whether or not he would accept the place. He did deny, however, that he had declined it. The story is that he is waiting to see whether the Governor will appoint another Bronx man before he gives the place up.

"I am not surprised to hear that Surrogate Schulz will not take the appointment," said one of the men who had a hand in selecting him. "The fight was between Thomas P. Quinn and Congressman Joseph Goulden, the Tammany candidates, and Cyrus C. Miller and Tenant House Commissioner John J. Murphy, neither of whom would have been confirmed by the Senate. He was a compromise and did not know his name was being considered until a few hours before the appointment was announced."

If the Surrogate does decide to decline the appointment it is not unlikely that it will go to George N. Reinhardt, of The Bronx. He is a wholesale hay and grain dealer and acceptable to the regular Democratic organization.

Among those mentioned to succeed Schulz as Surrogate, if he goes to the Public Service Commission, are Richard H. Mitchell, Assistant District Attorney, and Louis O. Van Doren.

Man and Wife Held for Trial.

Jean Loison, of No. 317 West 20th street, former butler for Dr. John Van derpool, of No. 56 West 23d street, together with his wife, was held in $3,500 bail yesterday for trial by Magistrate Campbell, in the Yorkville police court, on a charge of attempted extortion. Loison and his wife are alleged to have demanded $1,000 from the physician on threat of exposing him and ruining his reputation. A meeting was arranged subsequent to several demands, and Sunday night a marked ten dollar bill was handed to Loison, according to the allegation of the physician and a detective. The man was arrested with the money in his hand.

Morse Gets Hearing Delayed.

Charles W. Morse, described as an "aged, infirm and seagull witness," appeared yesterday before Mary Woodard, a notary, at No. 34 Nassau street, to testify in a suit brought by the Eastern Development Company against John W. McKinnon, agent for the shareholders of the National Bank of North America. Morse's deponent institution Morse obtained an adjournment of the examination until next Tuesday afternoon.

ONLY POKER TABLE FIRE

But Crowd Thinks Police Headquarters Is Burning.

Thick black clouds drifting from the roof of Police Headquarters late yesterday afternoon attracted a crowd that filled Grand and Broome streets and Centre Market Place, in the rear of the building. Sergeant Pierce, of the Mulberry street station, rushed into the building and told the men in the telegraph bureau on the fifth floor to flee from the flames. They replied that it was April 2, and they didn't believe his alarm, anyhow.

Pierce, in disgust, went to the basement, where he was met by James Hart, the engineer.

"Where's the fire?" shouted the sergeant.

"In the furnace," answered Hart, making no effort to conceal a smile.

He pointed to several poker tables and other gambling paraphernalia waiting to be food for the flames, and explained that for several days raid results had been disappearing in the furnace. Pierce went out, enlisted the aid of a number of detectives and patrolmen and dispersed the crowd.

DIVES OFF EXPRESS TO ESCAPE ARREST

Alleged Pickpocket Lands Safely—
Three Others Subdued
After Battle in Car.

After a battle on a crowded Brooklyn-bound "L" train last night, during which one man dived off the express as it swept by Marcy avenue and escaped, Detective Rose, of the Delancey street station, arrested three men. The prisoners were brought back to Manhattan, where they were looked up on a charge of picking pockets.

Rose is one of the smallest men in the Police Department, and when he appeared at his station last night with his giant captives in tow the policemen in the guard room gave him a cheer. One of the prisoners, a pickpocket, has a long record as a pickpocket, and the other two have been arrested before on that charge.

The detective was watching crowds in the Essex street station last night when he saw four men jostling a fifth. One of the four shoved his hand in the man's pocket as all five got aboard a train. Rose hurried the gate as the train pulled out and found the quintet in one of the forward cars. Rose asked the man who was jostled if he had lost anything. The man felt in his pockets and announced that $5 was missing.

Before the passengers knew what was happening Rose cornered the four jostlers and tried to get the cuffs on them.

One broke away and ran to the train platform, where he leaped from the train on to the station platform.

Rose kept the other three lined up until the next station was reached. The tooting of the guards' whistles brought special police, who helped the detective lock his prisoners together and put them on a Manhattan train. The Brooklyn police are looking for the other man.

N. Y. U. Students Aid Fund.

The students at New York University are starting a campaign to raise $1,000 toward the "million dollar fund." The senior class of the School of Commerce will give $5 a man. This plan, it is thought, will be followed by the senior class at University Heights.

A motion was passed in the student oratorical meeting yesterday "that a voluntary student list should be started, each man pledging himself for a certain sum."

90-DAY REPRIEVE FOR
GUNMEN, IS REPORT

Glynn to Spare Lives for Becker Trial, Counsel
Learns Unofficially.

"LEFTY LOUIE'S" WIFE
TO SEE GOVERNOR

Despite Good News, Plans to Present Petition in Person—
Has About 10,000 Names.

Word came yesterday through unofficial channels to counsel for the four gunmen that Governor Glynn intended to grant a ninety-day reprieve to the condemned men. It was explained that the Governor had to set a specific period of time in granting a reprieve, but if the ninety days were not sufficient to bridge the second Becker trial, the time would probably be extended.

The encouraging news was communicated to Mrs. Lillian Rosenberg, the doll-like wife of "Lefty Louie," and Mrs. Lillian Horowitz, wife of "Gyp the Blood."

Mrs. Rosenberg, however, said she would "take nothing for granted," and would carry out her plan to go to Albany today and in person present to the Governor an informal petition for a reprieve to which she and friends of the condemned men have obtained almost 10,000 signatures. She said that she had also written a letter to the Governor yesterday asking him to grant the reprieve, and that her husband and the other three prisoners had each written a similar letter to the Governor yesterday from the death house.

Mrs. "Lefty Louie" took the petition to the office of Charles G. F. Wable, the gunmen's counsel, and proudly showed some of the names subscribed to it. Among the early signers were Warden James M. Clancy of Sing Sing Prison, John J. Malloy, the warden's private secretary; Father W. E. Cashin, the prison chaplain, and Father James B. Curry, the Tombs chaplain.

There were the names of keepers and prison guards who had come in contact with the four prisoners in the Tombs or at Sing Sing. The bulk of the subscribers were from the East Side.

District Attorney Whitman said yesterday that he would make no further attempt to have state witnesses for the second Becker trial identify the gunmen in their cells. He asserted that it was usual to proceed in such cases, but that as the gunmen and their counsel objected to it he would resort to the more circuitous method of calling court attendants and prison keepers for the purpose of the identification. The law of evidence will require the identification of the gunmen at the second Becker trial in order to prove the actual killing of Rosenthal.

Mr. Wable visited the gunmen yesterday. He said that he protested to Warden Clancy against the recent efforts of the state's ex-witnesses, Shapiro and Krause, to identify the prisoners in their cells. He said that "Dago Frank" Cirofici, who occupies a cell commanding a full view of the door entering the death house, told him that Shapiro had a paper in his hands to which he referred when he came in to see them. Cirofici assumed that it was a diagram of their cells and their location, and protested on that account, he told his counsel.

Mr. Wable described some of the peculiar decorations which the gunmen have in their cells. Two condemned Chinamen, who are in the death house, recently constructed a large "Chinese basket" by piecing together bits of varied-colored paper and presented it to "Dago Frank." The basket hangs in Cirofici's cell, and he considers it a talisman, his counsel said.

"Lefty Louie" has a paper bangle on the wall of his cell, which Maurice N. Lustig, who was in the death house under sentence for poisoning his wife, but afterwards obtained a new trial, made for him. The "instrument" is made of cigarette
